It helps you surf the web at home with your home connection or connect to the Internet at school or work, on the road. You can also watch TV, movies, listen to music, or play multiplayer games using your PC. All this is very easy with HOLink to the web. HOLink to the web comes with a driver software that is required by most TV tuners or other equipment that can connect to the Internet. How It Works HOLink to the web will work smoothly if you have Windows 2000, XP or Vista with a broadband modem or a wired connection to the Internet. It is based on the peer-to-peer concept. When HOLink to the web is running, both your PC and the computer you want to use to view the web are connected to the Internet. When you use the HOLink to the web, your PC acts as a 'witness' to protect your network. HOLink to the web works like a network bridge that allows your PC to access Internet. Your PC doesn't need a broadband modem to connect to the Internet. Your PC can connect to the Internet through a wired connection or a DSL (analog) cable modem. Why It Works HOLink to the web keeps your home connection safe from other computers on your network. It works like a firewall
